

SO MANY ORPHANS...

*Films and books are full of characters who don't have families.
Connect the descriptions to the character names below.*

- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| Batman ● | ● Wears glass slippers and travels in a pumpkin |
| Wolverine ● | ● Lives in Oxford, has a daemon called Pantalaimon |
| Harry Potter ● | ● Hangs around with a crew of lost boys and has a friend called Tinkerbell |
| Paddington ● | ● Sisters who are friends with a singing snowman |
| Oliver Twist ● | ● Known by three numbers and takes his drink 'shaken not stirred' |
| Tarzan ● | ● Boy wizard with a scar on his forehead |
| Peter Parker ● | ● A bear from Peru who likes marmalade sandwiches |
| Frodo Baggins ● | ● Red-haired resident of New York who sings about Tomorrow |
| Annie ● | ● Fed a poisoned apple by her stepmother |
| Jane Eyre ● | ● Adopted by earthly parents but comes from the planet Krypton |
| Sophie ● | ● Wealthy citizen of Gotham City who lives with his butler |
| Lyra Belacqua ● | ● Pickpocket in a gang run by a man called Fagin |
| Cinderella ● | ● Hairy toed hobbit hero |
| Anna and Elsa ● | ● Fighter for the Rebel Alliance who trains as a Jedi Knight |
| Peter Pan ● | ● Boy who grew up in a jungle with apes |
| Snow White ● | ● Brave friend of the BFG |
| Luke Skywalker ● | ● Web-slinging building-climber bitten by a spider |
| James Bond ● | ● AKA Logan, a mutant with metal claws |
| Superman ● | ● Heroine of a Charlotte Bronte novel |

Why do you think there are so many orphans in books and films?

If you know the names of any friends or family members of these characters, write them beside their names.